

The FCC removing the "established business relationship" qualification from the fax regulations forces the American Academy of Wound Management and other associations to obtain the written consent of our own certificants and industry partners before transmitting any fax that could be interpreted as commercial in nature.

The financial impact to get written authorization from our 1600+ certificants as well as our pool of 20,000+ candidates will impact AAWM's budget by causing unbudgeted staff time as well as reproduction and photocopy charges that were not allocated.
